Greetings to whom it may concern

I've known Gabe all my life. We have known each other since kindergarten. And I have watched him grow like a bean sprout. His mother also has raised him very well. He grew up in a slightly wealthier family so he is very well educated. We have been very good friends for a long time. That's why I am writing this letter of recommendation.

Gabe is a very hard working man. He is a very qualified person for this school. He will always show up to class on time ready and prepared. He is very good with team building, and a very kind person. I always found Gabe to be very outgoing as well. I'm writing this letter because I think highly of Gabe. He's someone you can always ask for help from. A person that will be there for you at your worst. He has always been a great friend to me through thick and thin.

I think Gabe would certainly excel in the classroom. Especially if it's something of his interest. That being said, he really wants to pursue psychology at said university. He's a very compassionate person. If someone is in need he will always be there for you. He also loves helping people. Gabe has worked the prom committee fundraisers, canned food drives, donated blood and has volunteered at the local church. Needless to say he is very involved in his community and always wants to help others in need.

I am recommending Gabe as a friend. He has been very close to me for a very long time. I feel I have built a good enough relationship with him to where I can honestly recommend him. I think he is very outgoing and kind to others. I highly recommend Gabe to anyone that wants to give him a look. Whether that's for schooling or finding a good job. No matter what it is, I think he would be a great fit for said school or job.

Sincerely,

Leroy Rice
